

REBORN

I met the strangest man the other day
And he wept when he told me all about the day
That he met a stranger on the path one day
Who openly wept when a stranger stopped and said to him:

You will be
Reborn as me
You will see
The world through my eyes

And as he spoke
Something awoke
Our minds are yolked
Your thoughts are now mine

Please don't mind my tears it's just that I've roamed lonely all these years searching a
New home before my bones get weary and I'm
Too old but here you are and now I'm telling you:

You will be
Reborn as me
You will see
The world through my eyes

And as he spoke
Something awoke
Our minds are yolked
Your thoughts are now mine

And now you know why you've met me
You must go on the journey
You must find another body
Before you die you'll become me

You will be me

(J. Corbett)